

Conference Programme

-

Formal Representation and Digital Humanities text, language and tools

International Workshop organized within the Marie Skłodowska-Curie Horizon 2020 Project

SLUW: A computer-aided study of the Luvian (morpho-)syntax

University of Verona, Dept. Culture e Civiltà, June, 28th-29th, 2016.

Convenors: Federico Giusfredi and Paola Cotticelli-Kurras.

Scientific Committee: Paola Cotticelli-Kurras, Federico Giusfredi and Alfredo Rizza.

Tuesday, June 28, 2016
9:15-9:30	Opening and Welcome by the University Authorities
9:30-10:00	Introduction by P. Cotticelli Kurras and Federico Giusfredi
10:00-10:45	(Key-paper) A. Sideltsev, Formal Syntax for Hittite?	Session 1: Formalism and Language
10:45-11:15	Coffee Break
11:15-11:45	H.A. Fellner and B. Koller, On Sonority and Accent in Tocharian B Nominal System
11:45-12:15	R. Lühr, Subjects, Topics and the Notion of Saliency in Indo-European
12:15-14:00	Lunch Break
14:00-14:45	(Key-paper) M. Frank and Zs. Simon, The “Digital Philological-Etymological Dictionary of the Minor Ancient Anatolian Corpus Languages” and its contribution to the advancement of digital online encyclopedias	Session 2: Lexica, Corpora and Tools
14:45-15:15	C. Zanchi, E. Sausa and S. Luraghi, A digital resource for Greek linguistics: the Homeric Dependency Lexicon
15:15-15:45	G. Inglese, Annotating the syntax of fragmentary texts: the case of Hittite
15:45-16:15	Coffee Break
16:15-16:45	C. Posani, The Lexicon of the Neo-Hittite Royal Inscriptions as A Tool for the Analysis of Political Ideology in South-eastern Anatolian States in the First Millennium BC
16:45-17:15	L. D'Alfonso and Annick Payne, Digital Initiative: The Palaeography of the Anatolian Hieroglyphic Stone Inscriptions
17:15-17:45	A. Schachner, M. Marazzi, N. Bolatti Guzzo and L. Repola, Reconstructing and Representing: New 3D scanning experiments on monumental hieroglyphic inscriptions of Hattusha (Turkey)
19:30	Social Dinner

Wednesday, June 29, 2016
9:15-10:00	(Key paper) M. Passarotti, Well, It Depends. Theoretical and Practical Aspects of the Dependency Turn in Computational Linguistics	Session 3: Computational Linguistics
10:00-10:30	E. Litta Modignani Picozzi, Morphology beyond inflection. Building a word-formation based dictionary for Latin
10:30-11:00	Coffee Break
11:00-11:30	M. Speranza and R. Sprugnoli, Annotation of Temporal Information on Historical Texts: a Small Corpus for a Big Challenge
11:30-12:00	K. Zupan and T. Erjavec, Generating Critical Transcriptions with Character-Based Statistical Machine Translation
12:00-14:00	Lunch Break
14:00-14:30	F. Kahn, J.E. Díaz-Vera, Monica Monachini, Representing Machine Change in Computational Lexical Resources: the Case of Shame and Embarrassment Terms in Old English
14:30-15:00	C. Russo, Addestramento parallelo di TreeTagger e RFTagger con dati linguistici di italiano in CMC asincrona: risultati parziali e sfide future
15:00-15:30	Coffee Break
15:30-17:00	Round Table	